Marketing serves critical economic functions; companies of all sizes must develop effective marketing strategies to reach customers, which require an understanding of how to innovate and develop new products, create effective promotional programs, price products and services, and distribute these in a global marketplace. The marketing curriculum at Fox provides students with occupationally-viable skills and professional development opportunities.

Contemporary marketing focuses on performance metrics and the curriculum seeks to immerse students in the quantitative methods and the behavioral sciences necessary to address marketing problems. Experiential and active learning are common in the upper division curriculum and projects are often offered in cooperation with business and government organizations.

Students are encouraged to choose specific course sequences within the curriculum which offer more in-depth coverage of topics and provide job-ready skills; these sequences include: Supply Chain Management, Digital Marketing, Consumer Insights, Sales Force Effectiveness and Retailing. Information on these industry-focused sequences can be found on our department’s web site (http://www.fox.temple.edu/cms_academics/dept/marketing_and_supply_chain_management/programs/undergraduate-academics/career-focused-sequences).

Marketing majors have varied career choices, including:

- Advertising – including media planning, social media, or account management
- Direct Marketing
- Digital Marketing
- Global Marketing
- Logistics and supply chain management
- Marketing Management
- Marketing Research and consumer insights
- Non-profit organizations such as hospitals and universities
- Sales and sales management
- Wholesaling and Retail Management, including buying and allocations

Marketing majors are encouraged to become involved in the American Marketing Association (AMA), a student professional organization that offers students the opportunity to meet business leaders in marketing. The AMA hosts regular meetings and career development programs. The AMA is open to all majors. For more information, please see the AMA web site (http://www.fox.temple.edu/cms_career/student-professional-organizations/american-marketing-association) or contact Professor Craig Atwater at atwater@temple.edu (215-204-5220).

BBA Online Program Option

The Marketing major is available as an online BBA degree completion program designed for new students ready to start their junior year in a business curriculum. Please see our program and admission information (http://www.fox.temple.edu/cms_academics/undergraduate-2/online-bba).

Accelerated 3 Year BBA

Motivated students can accelerate their BBA program to finish in 3 years. Please see the suggested sequence (http://www.fox.temple.edu/cms_academics/dept/marketing_and_supply_chain_management/programs/undergraduate-academics/3-1-program).

Minors

The Marketing Minor

Students in the Fox School who are interested in expanding their career options through a general knowledge of marketing principles and specializing in an area of marketing should consider completing a minor in Marketing. The requirements (http://bulletin.temple.edu/archives/2014-2015/undergraduate/fox-business-management/business-minors-certificates/marketing-minor) must be completed prior to graduation. Courses cannot be used to meet minor requirements if already used to meet the requirements for a major or a different minor.

The Digital Marketing Minor

The Digital Marketing Minor prepares students for careers related to customer relationship management, social media, information architecture, e-commerce, search engine optimization, e-detailing, site design, internet research, demographic and sales analytics, blogging, and media design. The Digital Marketing minor is appropriate for all BBA students in the Fox School of Business and is particularly relevant for Marketing, Human Resource Management, Business Management, and MIS students. The requirements (http://bulletin.temple.edu/archives/2014-2015/undergraduate/fox-business-management/business-minors-certificates/digital-marketing-minor) must be completed prior to graduation. Courses cannot be used to meet minor requirements if already used to meet the requirements for a major or a different minor.

4+1 Master of Education Degree (M.Ed.)

The 4+1 Master of Education (M.Ed.) program is designed for students who are interested in pursuing a Master of Education while completing the Bachelor of Business Administration (B.B.A.) in Marketing requirements. After completion of the programs, students earn a B.B.A. degree and an M.Ed. in Business, Computers & Information Technology Education (BCITE) or Marketing Education (ME), and a Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Instructional I Teaching Certificate in BCITE or ME. There is an application process. The deadline to apply is June 15th for the fall admittance. For more information please contact:

MKTG 3502. Information Management for Marketing Strategies. 3 Credit Hours.
Information has become a valuable strategic asset and successful management of market information is essential for a firm's sustained profitability. It tells you not only who your customers are, what they are buying, but also what they want to buy. This course is an introduction to the principles of data management that underlie organizations in the "Information Age." First, the course will analyze the strategic role played by information. Second, the course will develop the skills required to manage information by using databases. Third, the course will consider marketing applications to illustrate the multiple uses of information stored in databases. Particularly, the course will ask how to organize and manage available information assets to address specific strategic objectives and needs. Note: Marketing Majors must earn a grade of C or better for this course to count towards the major requirement.

MKTG 3516. Transportation and Logistics Management. 3 Credit Hours.
Transportation, distribution, logistics, or supply chain management - all refer to the process by which companies move material, parts, and products to its customers. Proper planning and scheduling are crucial to efficient operations and customer satisfaction. Transportation management encompasses planning goods movements across its different modes - truck, rail, water, air and pipeline. This course provides students with a basic familiarity to the important issues, concepts and models for analyzing different transportation functions. The focus will be on presenting information about, and providing access to, available tools and techniques that ensure a smooth flow and distribution of goods in the industry today. The course uses both quantitative and spatial techniques for proper decision making - specifying how, when and where to transport goods; selection of appropriate location of warehouses and distribution points; selection of route and carriers; and understanding of logistics and distribution costs.
