

Graduate Certificate: Autism Endorsement

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION AND HUMAN DEVELOPMENT

Learn more about the graduate certificate in Autism Endorsement.

About the Certificate

Pennsylvania is experiencing a considerable increase in the proportion of students with autism eligible for services. A significant need exists for well-trained professionals holding various Level I and Level II certificates of professional competence to serve students with autism and related Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD).

The graduate certificate in Autism Endorsement offers a competency-based sequence of courses and a practicum for certified teachers who support students with ASD. All courses are grounded in applied behavior analysis and demonstrate research-based practices that enable students to gain the knowledge, specific skills and competencies to effectively educate children with ASD and work with their families. Students learn from renowned faculty in Temple's College of Education and Human Development, which is consistently ranked among the nation's best by U.S. News and World Report. Flexible practicum options are available.

At the conclusion of each course, students may apply for ACT 48 credits.

Completion of the certificate program ensures that graduates enhance their marketability as certified teachers when seeking positions in inclusive settings. Students who successfully complete the program are eligible to receive Pennsylvania's Autism Spectrum Disorders Endorsement Certificate.
