Marketing activities provide critical economic functions for the success of organizations. Companies of all sizes must develop effective marketing strategies to reach customers; this requires an understanding of how to innovate and develop new products, create effective promotional programs, price products and services, and distribute these in a global marketplace. The marketing curriculum at Fox provides students with career-ready skills and professional development opportunities.

The Fox Marketing curriculum focuses on today's key marketing activities and performance metrics; the program immerses students in the applied quantitative methods and the behavioral sciences necessary to address contemporary marketing challenges. Experiential and active learning are frequently used in the upper division curriculum; cases and simulations, along with projects, many offered in cooperation with business and government organizations, allow students to apply their experiences to real-life scenarios and build their résumés and competencies.

Students are encouraged to choose specific curriculum-based course sequences within the curriculum which offer more in-depth coverage of topics and provide job-ready skills. These sequences include: Supply Chain Management, Digital Marketing, Consumer Insights, Sales Force Effectiveness, and Retailing.

Information on these industry-focused sequences can be found on our department's web site (http://www.fox.temple.edu/departments/marketing-supply-chain-management/undergraduate).

Marketing majors have varied career choices, including:

• Advertising – including media planning, social media, or account management
• Customer Relationship Management
• Data Analytics
• Direct Marketing
• Digital Marketing
• International or Global Marketing
• Logistics and supply chain management
• Marketing Management
• Marketing Research and consumer insights
• Marketing Coordination for Non-profit organizations such as hospitals and universities
• Sales and sales management
• Wholesaling and Retail Management, including buying and allocations

Marketing majors are encouraged to become involved in the American Marketing Association (AMA), a student professional organization that offers students the opportunity to develop their professional network in marketing. The AMA hosts bi-weekly meetings, professional speaker sessions, and career development workshops. The AMA is open to all majors. For more information, please see the AMA web site (http://tu-ama.org) or contact Professor Craig Atwater at atwater@temple.edu (215-204-5220).

Marketing Majors may also be interested in joining the Professional Sales Organization (PSO (http://www.temple-pso.org)), the Fashion & Business Club (F&B (https://www.fox.temple.edu/student-professional-organizations/the-fashion-business-club)) or the Art of Business/Business of Art (AB/BA (https://temple.collegiatelink.net/organization/artofbusiness)) - all organizations offering students access and insight to a variety of career paths in marketing.

BBA Online Program Option

The Marketing major is available as an online BBA degree completion program designed for new and continuing students. Please visit the Online BBA web site for program and admission information (http://www.fox.temple.edu/undergraduate-bba/undergraduate-programs/online-bba).
Accelerated 3 Year BBA
Motivated students can accelerate their BBA program to finish in 3 years. Please see the suggested sequence (http://www.fox.temple.edu/departments/marketing-supply-chain-management/undergraduate).

Minors

The Marketing Minor
Students in the Fox School who are interested in expanding their career options through a general knowledge of marketing principles and specializing in an area of marketing should consider completing a minor in Marketing. The requirements (http://bulletin.temple.edu/undergraduate/fox-business-management/business-minors-certificates/marketing-minor) must be completed prior to graduation. Courses cannot be used to meet minor requirements if already used to meet the requirements for a major or a different minor.

The Digital Marketing Minor
The Digital Marketing Minor, open to business and non-business students, prepares students for careers related to customer relationship management, social media, information architecture, e-commerce, search engine optimization, e-detailing, site design, internet research, demographic and sales analytics, blogging, and media design. The Digital Marketing minor is appropriate for all BBA students in the Fox School of Business and is particularly relevant for Marketing, Human Resource Management, Business Management, and MIS students. It is a ideal for Klein College students. The requirements (http://bulletin.temple.edu/undergraduate/fox-business-management/business-minors-certificates/digital-marketing-minor) must be completed prior to graduation. Courses cannot be used to meet minor requirements if already used to meet the requirements for a major or a different minor.

4+1 Master of Education Degree (M.Ed.)
The 4+1 Master of Education (M.Ed.) program is designed for students interested in pursuing a Master of Education while completing the Bachelor of Business Administration (B.B.A.) in Marketing requirements. After completion of the programs, students earn a B.B.A. degree and an M.Ed. in Business, Computer & Information Technology Education (BCITE) or Marketing Education (ME), and a Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Instructional I Teaching Certificate in BCITE or ME. There is an application process. The deadline to apply is June 15th for fall admittance.

Courses

MKTG 2101. Marketing Management. 3 Credit Hours.
Explains the role of marketing in the U.S. economy and within the firm, including the interaction of marketing with other business functions, as well as with society. The course introduces students to the concepts, methods, and activities that comprise modern marketing management and provides examples as well as experiences analyzing and addressing marketing issues. Marketing Management focuses on the components of marketing strategy which comprises analyzing what markets and needs the firm will serve; deciding when, where, and how the firm will meet those needs; and understanding why (i.e. a compelling business reason) the firm should implement such a strategy. Includes the study of marketing-mix development issues, such as product development and management; pricing; distribution, logistics and supply-chain management; integrated marketing communications and promotion; plus other decisions involved in this process. Note: Marketing majors must earn a grade of C or better in this course.

Repeatability: This course may not be repeated for additional credits.

Pre-requisites:
ECON 1101|Minimum Grade of C-|May not be taken concurrently
OR ECON 1901|Minimum Grade of C-|May not be taken concurrently.

MKTG 2511. Marketing for the Sustainable Enterprise. 3 Credit Hours.
Sustainable marketing extends the boundaries of traditional marketing. This course focuses on how both for-profit and not-for-profit organizations learn to innovate, develop, produce, promote, distribute and reclaim products and services in new ways that reduce waste and pollution and benefit all stakeholders. Within the triple bottom line framework this course applies an experiential learning method to put you to task, applying these concepts to real life situations. In addition to modifications of marketing activities to reduce environmental impact, the course considers marketing’s role in corporate social responsibility (including ethical considerations) and social marketing agendas (such as health and community issues). Note: Marketing Majors and Minors can take this course as an upper-level major/minor elective.

Repeatability: This course may not be repeated for additional credits.

MKTG 2901. Honors Marketing Management. 3 Credit Hours.
Introduction to the discipline of marketing. The nature of marketing activities in contemporary society and the firm. Study of marketing mix variables and decision processes involved in corporations and public agencies. Concepts from economics, behavioral sciences, and modern systems theory are incorporated. NOTE: Open only to business designated honors students or with special permission. May be used to meet the marketing requirement of the Fox School of Business and Management. A Marketing Major or Minor must earn a C in the course.

Cohort Restrictions: Must be enrolled in one of the following Cohorts: SCHONORS, UHONORS, UHONORSTR.

Course Attributes: HO

Repeatability: This course may not be repeated for additional credits.

Pre-requisites:
ECON 1101|Minimum Grade of C-|May not be taken concurrently
OR ECON 1901|Minimum Grade of C-|May not be taken concurrently.
MKTG 3501. Integrated Marketing Communications. 3 Credit Hours.
Marketing 3501 is an intermediate level undergraduate marketing course which introduces students to the field of advertising by taking an integrated marketing communications (IMC) perspective. While advertising is the major focus of the course, IMC also plays a critical role as the course develops perspectives on the process of advertising, promotions, and media working together as a part of the overall marketing strategy. Topics include setting advertising objectives and budgets, client-agency-media relations, demand stimulation, media selection and evaluation, and the social responsibilities and regulation of advertising at the level of the firm and of the industry. NOTE: Prior to Spring 2009, this course was titled "Advertising."

Repeatability: This course may not be repeated for additional credits.

Pre-requisites:
MKTG 2101|Minimum Grade of C-|May not be taken concurrently
OR MKTG 2901|Minimum Grade of C-|May not be taken concurrently.

MKTG 3502. Information Management for Marketing Strategies. 3 Credit Hours.
With significant advances in technology, most organizations collect enormous amounts of data, ranging from markets to customers. Managing data on this scale and converting it into knowledge to facilitate decision making presents exciting new challenges. The underlying principles of data management are often similar, whether used in data analytics and business intelligence, enterprise resource planning (ERP), customer relationship management (CRM) or other aspects of marketing. This course aims to facilitate transformation of everyday business activities into a relational database system, from which information can be extracted in a systematic manner. In particular, students will learn how to organize and manage data with emphasis on maintaining data consistency, and minimizing data redundancy. Students will be introduced formally to conceptual modeling and data normalization in relational databases. In the second part, students will learn how to write queries in SQL and Microsoft Access to extract data that is relevant for answering marketing questions and developing marketing strategy. Finally, students will apply each of these skills in developing a database solution for a real-world business problem, using Microsoft Access. Note: Marketing Majors must earn a grade of C or better for this course to count towards the major requirements.

College Restrictions: Must be enrolled in one of the following Colleges: Business & Mngmnt, Fox School.

Repeatability: This course may not be repeated for additional credits.

Pre-requisites:

MKTG 3504. Sales and Sales Management. 3 Credit Hours.
This course provides an introduction to the behavioral aspects of personal selling and introduces frameworks for sales management. Course topics include: recruitment, selection, training, motivation, compensation, control and the strategy of matching the sales effort to the sales task. This course not only reflects a more analytical and scientific approach but also presents current and future challenges, opportunities, and proposed solutions to critical sales and sales management issues. Sales and sales management principles learned here can be applied to any industry that employs sales forces of any size.

Repeatability: This course may not be repeated for additional credits.

Pre-requisites:
MKTG 2101|Minimum Grade of C-|May not be taken concurrently
OR MKTG 2901|Minimum Grade of C-|May not be taken concurrently.

MKTG 3505. Entrepreneurial Marketing. 3 Credit Hours.
This course provides aspiring entrepreneurs with an understanding of marketing for new and small enterprises. It addresses marketing strategies particularly relevant for entrepreneurial enterprises, whether in a small company, large company, or non-profit organization. This class is a combination of academic lectures and “real world” activity. Students learn entrepreneurial techniques such as opportunity assessment, proactive marketing, innovative marketing communication, resource management, and value creation with an emphasis on digital marketing techniques. During the course, teams assist these organizations to raise money, build awareness, improve social media, create marketing plans or actually volunteer with the organization.

Repeatability: This course may not be repeated for additional credits.

Pre-requisites:
MKTG 2101|Minimum Grade of C-|May not be taken concurrently
OR MKTG 2901|Minimum Grade of C-|May not be taken concurrently.

MKTG 3506. Value Delivery Networks in Marketing. 3 Credit Hours.
This course provides a critical analysis of Value Delivery Networks (VDN) in marketing. VDN focuses on the role of intermediaries and strategies, as well as how firms use the Internet and other digital platforms to expand markets, service customers, and increase sales. The course explores critical supply chain issues in Marketing Management including inventory management, transportation, procurement, outsourcing, and warehousing issues which occur in marketing management. Marketing majors must earn a grade of C or better for this course to count towards the major requirements.

Repeatability: This course may not be repeated for additional credits.

Pre-requisites:
MKTG 2101|Minimum Grade of C|May not be taken concurrently
OR MKTG 2901|Minimum Grade of C|May not be taken concurrently.

MKTG 3507. Direct Marketing. 3 Credit Hours.
This course introduces student to the scope of direct marketing including mail order, lead generation, circulation, relationship/loyalty programs, store traffic/site traffic building, fundraising, pre-selling, selling (cross-selling as well as selling-up), post-selling and research. The course addresses how direct marketing varies from other forms of marketing and where its practice is most appropriate, as well as the practical challenges firms face as they seek to develop direct marketing programs for direct sale, lead generation or traffic generation using various digital marketing media. Various approaches for stimulating action and the measureability and accountability of direct marketing and its relationship to the total marketing mix are stressed. Marketing majors must earn a grade of C or better for this course to count towards the major requirements.

Repeatability: This course may not be repeated for additional credits.

Pre-requisites:
MKTG 2101|Minimum Grade of C|May not be taken concurrently
OR MKTG 2901|Minimum Grade of C|May not be taken concurrently.
MKTG 3508. Digital Marketing. 3 Credit Hours.
Digital technologies are an integral component of daily life for firms and consumers. Although digital marketing is an important part of business strategy, the dynamic nature of technology and consumer culture raises many strategic and societal challenges. This course examines the theories and concepts underlying the use of information and communication technology by firms and consumers, and challenges students to critique and utilize digital tools, including social media platforms, online reviews, inbound marketing and blogs, paid search, digital and programmatic advertising, search engine optimization, email marketing, mobile marketing and online promotions. The identification of critical success factors and best practices are central to the course, as are digital analytics and other methods for analyzing market effectiveness. The course examines the theory and realities of digital marketing in both business-to-consumer (B2C) and business-to-business (B2B) markets.

Repeatability: This course may not be repeated for additional credits.

Pre-requisites:
MKTG 2101|Minimum Grade of C-|May not be taken concurrently
OR MKTG 2901|Minimum Grade of C-|May not be taken concurrently.

MKTG 3509. Customer Data Analytics. 3 Credit Hours.
This course teaches students how to model customer data to more profitably target the organization's marketing efforts. Includes the collection, analysis, and utilization of data for the development of marketing strategies. The course includes the study of customer lifetime value and customer relationship management. Particular attention is paid to the interpretation and modeling of quantitative data (e.g., RFM models, decision trees and logistic regression). Students build and develop skills in IBM's SPSS platform. Note: Marketing majors must earn a grade of C or better for this course to count towards the major requirement.

College Restrictions: Must be enrolled in one of the following Colleges: Business & Mngmnt, Fox School.

Repeatability: This course may not be repeated for additional credits.

Pre-requisites:
