

Anthropology Minor

Overview

The Minor in Anthropology, offered by the Department of Anthropology, is designed for undergraduate students who want to learn about general anthropology, but cannot commit to a full academic major. Students in the Anthropology minor gain a well-rounded education and form writing and research skills, as well as a capacity to speak about human communities and social change in complex and informed ways, that help them stand out in the job market.

The Anthropology minor is not open to Anthropology majors.

Minors are awarded only at the time of completion of the bachelor's degree and cannot be awarded either as a stand-alone program of study or after completion of the first bachelor's degree.
