MKTG 5104. Marketing Strategy. 3 Credit Hours.

Marketing Strategy provides an executive viewpoint of integrated marketing concepts, including: market analysis, segmentation, targeting, and positioning, and the 4Ps (product, price, promotion, and place). Students learn to apply both strategic and tactical elements of these marketing concepts, integrate these into financial models, and make decisions in realistic environments in order to maximize long term firm value. This course emphasizes skills and experiences in analyzing a business' situation and formulating, implementing, and monitoring marketing strategy in a competitive environment. In particular, students will be able to select segments in which to compete, develop meaningful points of differentiation and positioning statements, think critically about product design, set prices in a variety of situations, deal with distribution and channel issues, and understand promotion strategies. There is a heavy emphasis on the link between marketing decisions and financial outcomes, as well as on communicating results of analysis to upper management. Note: Prior to fall 2017, the course title was "Managerial Decision Strategies in Marketing".

MKTG 5111. Customer Data Analytics. 3 Credit Hours.

This course introduces students to methods for analyzing data residing in firms' customer databases. It covers methods for creating profiles of customer segments based on their profitability to the firm, estimate individual customers' lifetime values, and demonstrate how this technique has been used by different organizations. The course also reviews statistical concepts and introduces and uses specialized statistical software, which will be used to conduct a variety of marketing analyses using actual customer databases. Students will acquire skills to construct traditional RFM (recency/frequency/monetary) analyses to maximize response to marketing campaigns. Using these traditional techniques as a foundation, students develop/build more sophisticated models to predict customer response, such as predicting whether a customer will respond to a particular marketing offer (e.g. a direct marketing, mobile marketing, direct mail, etc.). In addition, students construct more advanced models (e.g. logit models, CHAID) to maximize response to marketing campaigns and to compare the effectiveness of alternative models.

MKTG 5118. Marketing MS Capstone. 3 Credit Hours.

STAM, R&I and EMM students collaborate on a real-world business challenge in the market place. Each student plays a critical role in developing a comprehensive strategic marketing plan. EMM students will own responsibility for accurate segmentation, targeting, positioning, value generation and financial feasibility for a product or product line. STAM students will assess the effectiveness of the same brand's current advertising and communication strategies while guiding EMM and R&I on research that is actionable. R&I students will guide STAM and EMM on sound research planning, survey development, execution, data analysis and identify strategic outcomes. All three disciplines will work together to finalize a commercial grade marketing strategy and plan of tactics worthy of business management approval. All students learn to apply team leadership practices while developing a strategic marketing plan and gaining hands-on experience that can help accelerate a career in their respective fields. Success in this course requires playing an active role through a field research project that facilitates knowledge, skill, and competency in developing a company's product line and robust communication strategy and plan for implementation.

MKTG 5411. Marketing Management. 3 Credit Hours.

This course is designed to provide the student with the principles of marketing from the perspective of both buyers and sellers at both the macro (societal) and micro (firm) levels of analysis. Initially, we will address the evolution of market systems (macro level) and the role that marketing plays in bridging the gap between the production and consumption sectors of the economy. Subsequently, we will explore how firms (micro level) develop, price, promote and deliver goods and services to buyers and develop an understanding of how buyers acquire, consume and dispose of these goods and services. Everything that relates to a customer is part of the marketing domain, and the growing demands of stakeholders, news media and data analytics are changing the entire marketing landscape. The key to success for any organization (profit or non-profit) is to optimize how they create and deliver value. Marketing management extends far beyond promotion alone. Promotion is only one aspect of what marketing entails. In short, marketing is about enhancing perceived value of the organization and its products and services to increased willingness to pay vs. competitive offerings. Successful marketing management influences a company's desire and ability to enhance value generation, and thus increase perceived value.

MKTG 5612. Consumer Behavior 2: Consumers as non-rational decision makers. 1.5 Credit Hour.

This course is part two of a two course sequence examining consumer behavior and strategy; this part of the course focuses upon consumer behavior when decisions are less thoughtful and consequential - the kind of decisions that people make every day without thinking very long or hard about them (e.g., what orange juice to buy, what to eat for lunch, what to buy in the grocery store). Effective management results not from simply memorizing facts and vocabulary, but rather from systematic critical thinking, reasoned application of underlying principles, and strong analyses. The course is designed to encourage all of these skills as applied to managerial marketing strategy decisions.

Level Registration Restrictions: Must be enrolled in one of the following Levels: Graduate.

Degree Restrictions: Must be enrolled in one of the following Degrees: Master of Business Admin, Master of Science.

Repeatability: This course may not be repeated for additional credits.

MKTG 5613. Customer Data Analytics 1. 1.5 Credit Hour.

This course introduces students to methods for analyzing data residing in firms' customer databases. It will cover ways to profile customer segments based on their profitability to the firm, estimate individual customer's lifetime value, and demonstrate how this technique has been used in different organizations. The course will also review statistical concepts and introduce the software package SPSS, which is used to conduct a variety of marketing analyses using actual customer databases. Students will acquire skills to construct traditional RFM (recency/frequency/monetary) analyses to maximize response to marketing campaigns.

Level Registration Restrictions: Must be enrolled in one of the following Levels: Graduate.

Degree Restrictions: Must be enrolled in one of the following Degrees: Master of Business Admin, Master of Science.

MKTG 5614. Customer Data Analytics 2. 1.5 Credit Hour.

Building on concepts learned during Customer Analytics 1, students will build more sophisticated models to predict customer response, such as predicting whether a customer will respond to a particular marketing offer (e.g. a direct mailing). Students will acquire skills to construct more advanced models (e.g., logit models, CHAID) to maximize response to marketing campaigns and to compare the effectiveness of alternative models. SPSS software will be utilized.

MKTG 5618. Market Research 2: Marketing Intelligence. 1.5 Credit Hour.

Marketing Intelligence is an advanced level marketing course designed for users of market intelligence in consulting, marketing management, entrepreneurship, and finance to help you avoid drowning in data, become a more sophisticated user by assuming the role of research provider and by providing practice as evaluator of research, and improve your ability to use imperfect information to make decisions. This course is designed as a sequel to MKTG 5617 (Market Research 1: Foundations of Marketing Research). However, it can be taken independently. It will be necessary for students to read and understand the background material though. Students are expected to have a well-rounded background in marketing research including survey design, sampling and measurement tools.

Level Registration Restrictions: Must be enrolled in one of the following Levels: Graduate.

Degree Restrictions: Must be enrolled in one of the following Degrees: Master of Business Admin, Master of Science.
