COLLEGE OF EDUCATION AND HUMAN DEVELOPMENT

Learn more about the Master of Education in Urban Education and Policy.

About the Program

The MEd in Urban Education and Policy with concentrations in "Schools and Communities" and "Public Policy" is intended for early and mid-career individuals working in education, community development, non-profits, government, policy, and other relevant fields. The program aims to create networks of civically minded researchers and practitioners who have the skills and knowledge to increase educational opportunities for urban students and communities.

Our courses bring multiple perspectives to the study of urban schooling. Faculty and students work together to understand the context of urban education, especially the social, economic, political, and historical factors that shape city classrooms, schools, and communities. We view urban schools and communities as dynamic spaces, sites of challenges, and storehouses of assets. Students will work in partnership with local organizations as a part of their coursework.

Time Limit for Degree Completion: 5 years

Campus Location: Main

Full-Time/Part-Time Status: The degree program can be completed on a full- or part-time basis.

Areas of Specialization: Students are required to select and complete courses in one of the following concentrations:

- Schools and Communities, which takes an interdisciplinary approach to the study of urban education and includes courses on program evaluation and trauma-informed education.
- Public Policy, which focuses on policy design and implementation and includes courses on the economics of education and quantitative analysis.

Job Prospects: The MEd degree in Urban Education and Policy helps current educators, school and community leaders, non-profit professionals and professionals in government and other policy-making spaces enhance their skills and knowledge and advance in their fields. It also prepares students for careers in policy, government, educational research, youth advocacy, as well as leadership roles in non-profit and community organizations.

Non-Matriculated Student Policy: Students may take up to, but not more than, 9 credits of graduate study in the program before being admitted to the program. The credits transfer into the program, if the student is admitted. Students completing non-matriculated courses before being admitted to the program are NOT guaranteed admission.

Financing Opportunities: Financial support opportunities may include scholarships, tuition remission, and other financial aid such as grants, loans and federal work study.
