

Graduate Certificate: Financial Management

About the Certificate

The Graduate Certificate in Financial Management provides focused, graduate-level preparation in the core financial and managerial disciplines essential to effective organizational leadership. This 9-credit certificate is one of three stackable graduate certificates designed to deliver foundational MBA coursework in a flexible and accessible format.

The certificate consists of three MBA core courses. Together, these courses develop students' ability to analyze financial performance, understand the broader economic and social environment of business, and apply accounting information to managerial and investment decision-making.

The Graduate Certificate in Financial Management is intended for professionals seeking to strengthen their financial expertise, enhance managerial effectiveness, or gain a graduate business credential on a streamlined timeline. The certificate may be completed independently or stacked with other Fox graduate certificates. Students who successfully complete the certificate may apply the credits toward the Online or Hybrid MBA program, if admitted, allowing up to 27 of the 30 MBA core credits to be fulfilled through stacked certificates.

This certificate offers an accessible entry point into graduate business education for individuals who may not be ready to commit to a full MBA program while also serving as a valuable credential for career advancement in financial and managerial roles.

Full-Time/Part-Time Status: The graduate certificate can be completed on a part-time basis. NOTE: International students may not be eligible to apply for a student visa based on admission to the certificate program. Please contact the Fox School's admissions advisor for more information.
