Travel and Tourism, M.S.

SCHOOL OF SPORT, TOURISM AND HOSPITALITY MANAGEMENT

About the Program

The goal of the Master of Science in Travel and Tourism program is to provide a focused tourism curriculum for those wishing to pursue a career in or current employees seeking to advance within a tourism organization. Graduates of the program gain:

• in-depth knowledge of the size, scope, functioning, and issues facing the global tourism industry;
• the ability to understand, assess, and respond to challenges that are presented to the sustainability of the global tourism industry;
• enhanced analytical and critical thinking skills; and
• preparedness for career advancement within the global tourism industry.

Time Limit for Degree Completion: 4 years, but the program is designed to be completed over 13 months.

Campus Location: Online, with a mix of sessions with the instructor, smaller team sessions, and independent work by students.

Full-Time/Part-Time Status: The degree program can be completed on a full- or part-time basis.

Affiliations: Coursework from the Fox School of Business and Management is required for the Travel and Tourism M.S. program. The School of Sport, Tourism and Hospitality Management (STHM) is affiliated with the Fox School.

Job Prospects: Students who are not already working in the industry typically find placements in convention and visitors bureaus; convention centers; destination marketing organizations (DMOs); tour operations; tourism attractions; local, state, and national tourism bureaus; and chambers of commerce.

Financing Opportunities: Students are automatically considered for merit scholarships from STHM's graduate programs at the time of admission. Scholarships are awarded on the basis of a student's academic history and professional experience.
