Pre-Med Health Scholar Program

The Pre-Med Health Scholar Program is designed for highly talented Temple students aspiring to become physicians, offering a pathway to provisional acceptance to the Lewis Katz School of Medicine (LKSOM) at Temple University through a special Linkage Agreement. Students have the opportunity to apply to this prestigious program during their first semester at Temple University. To be considered for admission to LKSOM, Pre-Med Health Scholars must meet specific academic and program requirements by January of their junior year in college.

Accelerated Programs for Dentistry, Pharmacy, Physical Therapy, and Podiatry

Accelerated Programs allow Pre: Dentistry, Pharmacy, and Podiatry (3+4 Tracks) as well as Physical Therapy (3+3 Track) students the option of earning both their Bachelor of Arts and Graduate degrees in a shorter period of time. Bachelor's degrees are conferred after successfully completing three years of undergraduate studies and passing all courses in the first year of professional school. The Accelerated BA/DMD, BA/PharmD, BA/DPM, or DPT Programs are designed for high-achieving students who have distinguished themselves with impressive academic records and a demonstrated interest in their respective field.

Applications for the Accelerated Program are available during a student's first semester at Temple University via the PPHA Canvas site. For more information, please visit the Pre-Professional Health Advising web site.
