

Journalism, Society and Culture Minor

Overview

The Minor in Journalism, Society and Culture, offered by the Department of Journalism, serves students in other majors who would benefit from a deeper understanding of journalism's role in society. Coursework explores the social, political and economic issues that underlie journalism's role in public life. This minor has a natural affinity with the liberal arts and education. It offers students headed toward a range of careers—for instance, community advocacy work, teaching, media research, law, policymaking, public history, global development, and many other fields—a valuable perspective on how contemporary issues in journalism will impact their roles as citizens and professionals.

Campus Location: Main

Contact Information

Carolyn Kitch, PhD, Director and Laura H. Carnell Professor of Journalism
 Annenberg Hall, Room 316
 215-204-8346
 ckitch@temple.edu

Learn more about the Journalism, Society and Culture minor.

Requirements

To earn this minor, students must complete a minimum of 18 credits.

Code	Title	Credit Hours
Foundational Course
Select one of the following:		3
JRN 1111	Journalism and Society
CMST 1111	Communication and Public Life ¹
Intermediate Level Courses
Select one (or both) of the following:		3-6
JRN 1196	Writing and Reporting
JRN 2702	News Literacy
Upper Level Studies Electives
Select four of the following (or three, if you have taken both Intermediate Level courses):		12-9
JRN 3701	Contemporary Issues in Journalism
JRN 3702	Race and Racism in the News
JRN 3703	History of Journalism
JRN 3704	Ethical Issues in Journalism
JRN 3705	Gender and American Mass Media
JRN 3706	Journalism and Globalization
JRN 3707	Visual Communication
JRN 3711	Ethnic and Alternative News Media
JRN 3712	The Business of Journalism
JRN 3719	Research Colloquium in Journalism Studies
Any 37xx level special topics course
Total Credit Hours		18

¹ For Communication Studies majors only.