

Certificate in Voice and Speech for the Actor

Learn more about the undergraduate certificate in Voice and Speech for the Actor.

The Certificate in Voice and Speech for the Actor allows undergraduates from other disciplines to pursue their interest in voice and speech. The Department of Theater at Temple University boasts two master teachers and one associate teacher of the renowned Fitzmaurice voice method. Participants in the Certificate in Voice and Speech for the Actor study with these teachers and with instructors trained by them. For myriad reasons, interested undergraduates pursue a major outside of Theater and the performing arts, but their passion for performance and hunger for training remains. The Certificate in Voice and Speech for the Actor allows a student to continue training with professional actors and faculty from the Department of Theater at Temple and the rich theatrical community of Philadelphia. Skills acquired from the Certificate in Voice and Speech for the Actor complement requisite expertise in most professions. Confidence in public speaking and presentation, creativity, collaboration, professionalism and communication are just some of the qualities enhanced through the study of voice and speech.

As part of this program, Theater offers the undergraduate Certificate in Voice and Speech for the Actor on the Main Campus only. The certificate consists of a four-course, 12-credit sequence.

Students must be concurrently enrolled in a baccalaureate degree and the certificate to earn the certificate.
